What do plants need to grow well?

How Plants Grow [CD-02]

Hi, Andy! I'm your plant. I'm not growing well. Do you know why? You don't give me enough water and sun. You gave me soil to grow in. Only soil is not enough. I also need both water and sun! Sun and water give energy to my roots and leaves. The green color in my leaves makes the food. I live and grow with the food. Give me both water and sun, and I will be a healthy plant!

How do I grow with water and sun? I have three parts in my body — leaves, trunks, and roots. My leaves make food. My roots take in water from the soil. Then the water goes from the roots to the trunk. The trunk sends the water out to the leaves. My roots and trunk also hold me up. So, I don't fall down!

My friend cactus needs just a little water. Too much water is bad for a cactus. I have another friend, moss. It lives in the shade. It doesn't need lots of sun. Remember, all plants need three things — water, sun, and soil. But every plant needs a different amount.

1 What three things do plants need to grow?

2 Why is Andy's plant NOT growing well?

- a. There is too much water.
